CARTOMETRAGGIO

*there was a dark night
there was a night without fear
there was a night of stars and clouds
there was a night of a thousand fireflies and more there was a night and maybe there is still there was also a day...*

A new way to tell through the invention of the “cartometriggio”: between rhymes, illustrations, boxes and sounds, a visionary story unrolls itself to listen, to watch and to imagine.
A show to back to dream and to give back the dimension of listening to children.
Away from technology, there is the story of a boy playing with boxes and imagination.
The boxes are magic places, where the games come to life: to open a box is an endless surprise!
A box can be a room where every child can invent his story, it can be the sea, it can be the sky and the stars. For sure, a box is the safe place where you can guard your secrets, you can collect your dreams and you can image the world.
